I have been lucky enough to have been married to 3 amazing women starting in July 1965 and continuing to the present. My current wife is Leona. I have a total of 11 children and step children ages 37 to 50 and 21 "Grand" children ages 4 to 27. No Great Grands yet.

After graduating from High School I attended California State Polytechnic College in Pomona California graduating in 1965 with a BS degree in Animal Science and with my 1st wife, a college classmate. In the 1967 I entered the Army and became a Field Artillery Officer and was lucky enough to serve 2 years in Panama Canal Zone and was able to take my wife with me. I was discharged in 1970 and made the move to Nebraska where I worked as a Dairy Processing Plant Fieldman before starting my own dairy in 1971. From 1978 to 1986 I managed the Ord Cheese Company. It was during the transition from the dairy farm to the Cheese Plant that my first wife divorced me. In 1979 I married my 2nd wife and we were together until 2003 when she died of cancer. After the cheese plant closed I went to work for USDA Farmers Home Administration as an Agricultural Loan Officer where I worked until I retired in 2007. I married my current wife in 2005 and we live on a beautiful 2100 acre lake in the middle of Nebraska we love to sail our 2 sail boats, enjoy the lake, enjoy each other, spend time with our family and travel a little, mostly in warm climates and during the winter months. Who wants to leave a beautiful place like this when the weather is nice? I think one of the reasons my wife has been able to put up with me since retirement is that she let me have a dog, Ben, a Golden Doodle and that I have a large garden that takes up a lot of my time and a computer that keeps me busy when I can't be outside. Ask me about sailing the garden or the dog and you will never hear the end of it.

Two life lessons that I would like to share that I attribute to my success, such as it is.

1. Better Lucky than Smart any day!
2. Make sure the woman you marry is smarter than you are and that you both know it!
